Each of the eight bells bears an inscription: "Ring in the love of truth, Ring in the common love of good," "Hope—Lift up your hearts, Lift them high up unto the Lord," "Faith—Send out thy life and thy truth, Let them lead me," "Glory—Arise, shine, for thy light is come," "Honour—Sing ye to the Lord, sing forth the honor of his name," "Blessing—Joy—Break forth into joy, sing together," "Angel—May God bless all, whom we do call." The inscriptions were chosen by the donor, who is a granddaughter of the man for whom the school was named. A picture of the town in which the bells are to hang is seen on a recent cover of The Youth's Companion.

Freekles.

An attraction which should cause more than the usual desire to see a play, is Neil Twomey's dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read story, "FREEKLES," which will be the attraction at the Norway Opera House next Wednesday, Jan. 3. When it is considered that this fascinating story of Indiana's great swamp country, "The Limberlost," has had more than a million readers, there is no wonder that the drama is causing far more than the ordinary attention. Where a book contains the vital necessities for dramatization, the play is always of more interest than the story, because the imagination is not taxed and the characters are living, breathing ones.

Those who have read "Freekles," will understand the possibilities for a drama of far more than ordinary strength in action, and environment. There is unlimited scope for the scene painter, the electrician and stage mechanic, and in these features the production is said to be of surpassing magnificence. A guarantee of the worth of this play is the fact that it has been staged by A. G. Delamater, who has some notable successes to his credit, and who never does anything by halves. There are hundreds of thousands of theatre goers who will remember his "Beverly of Graustark," and other productions which have been so successful.

The dramatist in adapting "Freekles" for the stage, has kept fairly true to the text of the book. The familiar character of Freckles—a nameless waif when the story opens, mainly in the way in which he takes hold of life, in the nature of his friendships he forms in the great "Limberlost" swamp, in the charm of his engaging personality and his love story with "The Angel," his various exploits with the timber thieves, are all scenes of the play. It is proving the success of the season, everywhere it is played. Adv.

NUMBER 1.

Poultry Exhibition.

The Largest and Best Exhibition a Bigger Variety of Entries, and a Good Attendance.

The fourth annual Western Maine Poultry Show was held at the Norway Opera House, Dec. 31, Jan. 1 and 2.

For the past three years the exhibition has been held at New Hall, South Paris, but the interest in the show has increased to such an extent that New Hall has become inadequate to accommodate the needs of the association and the Opera House was chosen for this year's exhibit. Breeders everywhere in the State had been invited to send their best birds and an excellent collection was on exhibition, including all varieties of the feathered flock.

It is the aim of the association to make this section of the State the headquarters of the fancy and to improve the poultry business and encourage breeders to improve on their stock to obtain the best results.

A large number of coops have been built this year to accommodate the large exhibit. Eight rows of double coops extend the entire length of the Opera House with passages between each row and at each end, while on the side nearest the door is another row. The ante-room at the left of the hall is devoted to the exhibit of geese.

The front of the stage is prettily decorated with white bells, tinselled hoops, and white stars, tinselled streamers, and bears the inscription, "C. B. Cummings & Sons, Chicken Feed." On the stage were exhibited all kinds of chicken feed in fancy packages artistically arranged on the various tables. The decorations were done by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cummings.

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens.

Burdens of a bad back are heavy.

Get rid of them.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad kidneys—

For lame, weak and aching backs;

Lots of grateful endorsement to prove their worth.

Irving Morrill, stationery engineer, Alpine St., South Paris, Me., says: "I would not have known what to have done without Doan's Kidney Pills. I am glad to confirm my previous public endorsement of them. I suffered from pains in the small of my back and if I stooped for any length of time, it was hard for me to straighten. I noticed that the kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular in passage. I got Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three boxes, my trouble disappeared." 52 I

Only a Horse.

Only a horse, and an old horse too, working from day to day.

Only a worn-out nag, this true, plodding his weary way.

A horse that works and wins in vain for his master's word of praise.

A slave that bows of the tightened rein; a beast that the master chides.

Only a horse; but a horse with a heart—a thin worn-out old nag.

But with spirit strong he plods along with an uncomplaining neigh.

A beast of burden by man abused, tortured and harsh with with goad;

But a lesson in faithfulness, courage and toil—this worn-out nag of the road.

Only a horse—not a brute—but a horse, a patient, tired old nag.

The brute is the one that applies the lash, not the one who resolves the day.

He labors hard for his master's greed, he endures the toil and the pain; but his eye is a prayer—an appeal to be humane.

Suffered Twenty-One Years— Finally Found Relief.

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physician called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for a year. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,

MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Avoyelles Par., Marksville, La.

Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

How Maine Common Schools Are Supported.

According to the statutes of this State the common school expenses are properly designated to be only those that apply to teachers' wages, conveyance of pupils, janitors' services and fuel. State common school funds may be expended for only those purposes and local funds for the support of common schools are raised upon this basis.

For the fiscal year preceding May first, 1912, Maine expended for these purposes a grand total of $2,088,215. The highest item of expenditure was, of course, for teachers' wages which amounted to $1,502,924. For conveyance of pupils the State expended $44,351.

The amount contributed by the State for the period named for meeting the expenses of the common schools was $1,483,285.

Native of Fryeburg.

George B. Chandler, a member of the Connecticut Legislature, who has been named as a member of the Industrial commission created by Congress to investigate the relations between labor and capital, was born in Fryeburg, Oct. 21, 1863. He grew up on a farm and went from the Brighton academy to Bowdoin college, where he was graduated in 1890 with honors in English composition and oratory. While in college he was editor of the Bowdoin Orient.

From 1890 to 1891 he was principal of the Franklin, Mass., high school and in 1891-2 of the Milford, Mass., high school. In 1892 he became a representative of Ginn & Co., the school book publishers, and in 1895 took up important work with the American Book Co. He has done much critical and editorial work and had charge of sales departments in important fields. In 1905 he went to Connecticut, living first in Hartford and since September, 1908, in Rocky Hill. His first public work was as chairman of the committee which carried on the campaign that resulted in the trolley being taken out of the city of Hartford and Middlebury, through Rocky Hill.

In 1909 he was elected to the Connecticut House of Representatives from Rocky Hill, usually heavily democratic. He was there chairman of the committee on railroads and led the fight for a public utilities commission, which resulted in the passage the next session of the measure now on the statute books. He was re-elected in 1911 and was chairman of the committee on labor and of the special committee to investigate the necessities of life. He led the debate in favor of workingmen's compensation bill and was the author of various important measures.

He declined the use of his name as a candidate for speaker, as he had declined to become a candidate for Congress, which went to C. C. Bissell of Suffield. Mr. Chandler was an active worker for the election of United States Senator, George H. McLean, and made a nominating speech for Charles A. Goodwin in the Republican state convention in 1910. He is a most effective campaign speaker and frequently addresses societies. He was president of the Get-Together club of Hartford, 1911-12, of the State Business Men's association legislative committee in 1912. He is a member of the Graduates' club in New Haven and the University club in Hartford. He is thoroughly fitted by nature and by training for the position to which he is appointed.

FRYEBURG.

Mrs. Martha B. Nutter, Mrs. Martha Bryant Nutter, widow of Eben T. Nutter and one of the oldest ladies in Portland died Saturday morning at the home of Dr. Alfred Sawyer, Sumner street, at the age of 93 years, 10 months and five days.

There was no more familiar figure in the city of Portland than Mrs. Nutter, who for years had been a resident of South Portland.

The deceased was born in Fryeburg, her maiden name being Martha Bryant Wiley. Her husband was for many years a member of the firm of Nutter, Kimball & Co. of Portland, which company carried on and extensive West India trade, dealing mostly in shooks.

Mrs. Nutter was a sister of Mrs. Robert E. Peary, wife of the famous Arctic explorer. For the past year she had been in poor health and about four months ago she was confined to her bed. She is survived by one son, Frank C. Nutter of Portland and several grandchildren. Funeral services were held on Monday from the Brown Hill church at 2:30.

The name of Martha Nutter was a familiar one to everyone in Fryeburg where she spent many seasons. "Martha's Grove," later called the "Chauteauque," was named for her and she was very fond of it and put in many days of her life there and also much money. The large building "Normal Hall" was built by her and cost $1200. She was one of the pioneers in making that grove the attractive spot that it was for many years.

John Harriman has bought Mrs. Freeman Whitcomb's house in the eastern part of the village.

A. Osgood Pike and family have moved here from Saco, and are occupying the family home, on Elm street.

Dr. C. E. Harris has bought John Harmon's stable in the rear of Whitman Cook's residence on Elm street.

Mrs. A. M. Abbott has been spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. Ellis Spear Jr., at Newton Center.

Herbert Wentworth of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass., has been at home for the Christmas vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Brown have spent the holidays at North Anson, and will make an extended visit in Dorchester, Mass.

John F. Harriman has rented his farm at Monmouth and the family have moved to a part of the Frye House in the village. Mr. Harriman has been a helpless invalid for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Evans have been entertaining their children, with the exception of their oldest son, Frank Evans, Pennsylvania, at the children's entertainment were, Alice Evans of Boston, Virginia Purinton and family of Battleboro, Vermont, and Robbie Evans of Walla, Oregon, who has been in the forestry service there for a number of years.

Myrtle Pray has been visiting in Conway.

Dr. Perry spent the winter with C. W. Farrington.

Susan Charles has been visiting her niece, Mrs. Edwin Gray.

Mrs. Clara Hastings has been a recent guest of Mrs. M. M. Smart.

Henry Mitchell and wife from Somerville, Mass., have been the Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Quincy.

A supper and entertainment is anxiously looked forward to, which is to be given at the Harbor church by the men at some date in the near future.

Miss Crowell, the missionary who is supplying at the Harbor church, has been at her home for the holidays. Notwithstanding her absence the Sabbath school convened on Sunday, Dec. 22, sixteen were present. Your correspondent was present and enjoyed the manner in which the juvenile class was conducted. The interest manifested by the class shows the efficient work of the teacher and the aptness of the pupils. It was interesting to listen to the reading of their lesson by their teacher asked them to step out one by one and read. "Grow-up" with their could do as well. Our young people are the life of the Beware of Aloes!

By Dr. True

Beware of laxatives containing aloes! Aloes aids in giving free and easy bowel action—but it produces griping and piles! Many people suffer from piles because they use some laxative that contains aloes.

There is no law that requires aloes to be mentioned as an ingredient in a laxative, so you must guard yourself.

I solemnly swear that there is not any aloes in Dr. True's Elixir. So when you need a laxative I advise you to take my own medicine, Dr. True's Elixir.

Dr. True's Elixir is composed of the extracts, essences and juices of leaves, barks, seeds and roots of known value for stomach troubles and bowel troubles. It sets the stomach right and produces free, normal, easy action of the bowels. Also, it expels all worms and other parasites from stomach or bowels, except tape worms.

These wonderful remedial qualities are combined with delicious, honey-flavored syrup and other pleasant-tasting aromatics, so that Dr. True's Elixir is the nicest possible medicine to take. This makes it easy to give to children also. They get so they really like to take it!

Prayer meeting and Sunday school. Jessie Hall read a sermon and Frank Ray frequently adds to the interest of the prayer meeting in assisting in the music with his cornet. Archie Hurd, an organist, is usually at his post, and unavoidably away. At the close of the service, Sunday evening, a very interesting and scholarly talk on music was given by Archie Hurd.

Norman Charles, who has been ill, is improving.

The young people have been at home during the holidays.

Marguerite McKeen is spending several weeks in Massachusetts.

Mrs. John Phillips is visiting relatives in Reading and Malden, Mass.

Charles T. Ladd spent a day and night in Denmark with Harold Perkins.

Mrs. Louise Hall and two boys spent Christmas with her father, John Phillips.

Frank Evans was the guest of his parents last week. He lives in Germantown, Pa.

A large horse owned by W. W. Thomas of Highland farm dropped dead on the street, Saturday.

Kate Abbott is visiting her sister, Mrs. Turner, in Massachusetts. Harriet Abbott is visiting her mother.

Captain J. T. Whitmore of Warren, who formerly occupied the store where Geo. O. Warren is, is very ill.

Richard Chase, who has made his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Barker, has gone to Boston to make his home with his father.

Rev. B. N. Stone had a severe fall on the street one day last week, slipping on an icy spot. He was laid up for a couple of days but is all right again.

Clement Towle, the expressman, is by far the best person who has served in that capacity for a long time, always busy and always pleasant.

James Lovis, who has been dead at "The Argonaut" for years, is now boarding at home. Mr. Lovis is janitor of the school house and one of Fryeburg's landmarks. He is always ready to do all kinds of work.

Joseph Andrews' Letters.

No. XXVII.

I had friends in Sweden, Bridgton and South Bridgton that I wished to visit, and had planned to patronize my own independent transportation line, via the Lovell Center bridge, but for some reason business to attend to at Bridgton and kindly planned his trip so as to give me a lift, and Sept. 4th I bade my kindest wishes good by; took one long farewell look at the grand old mountains, and the lovely lake and valley and climbing into the buggy behind the faithful nag, we were soon upon our way.

At the home of Daniel Woodbury in Sweden we made a dooryard call. When I was a school boy at Lovell Center, along about 1892, and A. Rollett and Frank Woodbury of Sweden each for a term or more taught the Center school. They were both fine teachers and I remember with pleasure the winters that they taught.

I first met Daniel Woodbury there where he often came to bring and return his brother to and from the school, and it was there I presume that he met his future bride, Eliza Stearns, one of Lovell Center's best and most sensible girls.

They were married in the fall of 1893 and I think have always lived on the old Woodbury homestead where they now reside. They have raised a family of bright worthy children of which they have good reason to be proud.

My old teacher, Rolston Woodbury, was a brave soldier in the Civil war. He died long years ago.

"Frank Woodbury my other teacher was another of the Sweden boys to win a Lovell Center bride, one of our winners, Isabella Heald. They were married in the fall of 1895, and soon after went to San Francisco to live where he became a teacher in Heald's business college. She died in the spring of 1897. He afterward married a girl named Lillian near Pasadena, Cal., where he died quite a long time ago and was buried by the side of his first wife at San Francisco.

Three years ago when I visited with Henry Stearns, at Oakland, Cal., I spent one half of day at the C. O. C. cemetery, adjoining Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, for the purpose of visiting one small but sacred spot therein, where long have slept side by side four of Lovell's well remembered citizens, Isabella, Alice, Charles and James Heald, all old school-mates of mine; and Frank Woodbury, the teacher, most of them stricken by the cruel hand of death, upon what seemed to be the beginning of a long and useful life.

The children from Lovell over the Sweden hills is a very pleasant one and we arrived safely at the pretty little city of Bridgton where we were warmly welcomed by Russell Hamblen and his two lady friends, the Misses Nellie and Grace Whitney, who make their home with him. Mr. Hamblen was one of my young school-mates, the son of Dea. Charles Hamblen, at Lovell Center. The firm of Ingalls & Hamblen is one of the leading business firms of Bridgton.

As he has been called by all his friends is a fair sample of the kind of young men Lovell Center turned out in the early sixties and seventies and before; a bright, honorable business man of high moral character and good standing in the community. I had a very pleasant visit with him. He owns a Maxwell auto, No. 8616, and in the evening he took me for a spin over to North Bridgton where we spent a pleasant hour visiting another old Lovell friend, A. H. Hattar, who was also a veteran of the Civil war, and on my return to Fryeburg a few days later, he took me in his auto almost to the village in the slash and rain.

John Hamblen, of the firm Wales & Hamblen, is another of the Lovell Center boys who has brought much credit to his native town, and is an honor to his adopted town. A leading citizen of Bridgton told me that John Hamblen could have anything he wanted in Bridgton in the official line, but the politician bee does not seem to buzz in his ear. He attends strictly to his own business. John is a son of the late Hon. J. G. Hamblen of Lovell, and was one of my younger schoolmates. He has a fine home in Bridgton, an excellent wife and two bright children. His half-sister, also a Lovell girl, lives with them. She is a school teacher, and I believe teaches in the village school.

Another old time friend that I met was Judge A. H. Walker. Mr. Walker was for thirteen years Judge of Oxford County. He was born in Fryeburg 78 years ago; for twenty years he was a resident of Lovell, and for more than thirty years has been a resident of Bridgton. I found him at leisure in his cozy office over one of the bank buildings and had a long and pleasant chat with him about old times and friends. In an adjoining office I also met Edwin Walker, a nephew of the Judge. He is also a lawyer and was at one time a resident of Lovell. He evidently leads a bright and cheerful life although living under a great misfortune, having lost his sight more than twenty-five years ago.

Bridgton with its various manufacturing establishments and its corn and sawing factory which was in full blast, seemed to be a lively prosperous little city. My first visit there was about 1893 or 4, when the great Vannaburg animal show and circus came to town.

It was a wonderful show for those days, and there was a vast crowd present. The entire outfit was moved by teams and in all my life I have never seen so many big horses and mules.

My next visit was at the home of Mrs. Sarah Berry and her brother, Charlie Fitch of South Bridgton on the old Fitch homestead where Mrs. Berry has made her home all her life and where her mother was born in 1839 and also lived there all her life after the tragic death of her only child, a son, and that of her husband, some ten or twelve years ago, her brother Charles, then living in South Dakota on a farm. He rented his farm and came back to look after his father's farm. It was to visit him that I came. He had lately taken to himself a bride and had just returned from his wedding trip and I had a very enjoyable visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fitch.

Mr. Berry and his sister and a large blueberry patch out in the pasture.

Mrs. Berry sold her large farm last winter and her brother, not being needed any longer there, returned to his 320 acre farm near Wasta, in the western part of South Dakota. Charlie Fitch has been a philanthropist in more ways than one. Some 25 years ago he went to South Dakota and established a home on government land. About 30 years ago his sister, Clara was left a widow in destitute circumstances, and with three young children to care for. He took them to his home and cared for them all and educated the children, then when his sister, Mrs. Berry was left alone, he rented his western farm to his nephew and again went where duty called; and

The members of Elm Vale Chapter, O. E. S. elected officers last Tuesday evening. They elected a tract of home made candy, popped corn and apples.

All seem pleased to have snow except A. R. Clark; he said it was too good autoing for snow. E. A. Wight also rode his auto, through December.

Those less favored rejoice to hear the jingle of sleighbells.

Christmas is over once more. The usual extravagance has been indulged in. The hurry and rush has been lived through and now all that remains to do is to return misfit presents and try to be reconciled because we did not receive what we longed for or because no one cared whether we had any presents or not. Personally we have just the thing needed in our business and are duly thankful.

We need no Hicoks to predict the weather here as "Uncle John Knight" is sure to "hit the nail on the head" every time. He predicted the last rain storm days before it fell, and a severe cold and also said there would be no snow till after Christmas. Long live Uncle John! He makes two trips daily to the store and is very smart for his years.

The sidewalks on the Harrison side of the river are kept clear of snow by enterprising citizens. They follow the Biblical plan, "each one sweep before his own door," and some go much farther with the good work. We, on the Otisfield side, admire their pluck and enjoy treading on the sidewalks while we secretly wish Otisfield was up-to-date enough to follow the example of Harrison. We notice with pleasure the mention of B. Mill's fine sidewalk in last week's Scratch-Thought-Talks. Thank you.

There was also mention of "Ground Grippes." Your correspondence can speak of their virtues from personal experience. How we pity the foolish women who place their feet like the Chinese. We think the women will have to form a society to lessen the price as they have eggs, perhaps when the "Grippes" sell for less than $5 per pair, more women will enjoy wearing them. We expect one to wear a life time so it is a good investment. Meanwhile we draw our feet under our skirts, lest some one notice we no longer wear those small, nice looking boots.

A. J. Brown has been making the extensive repairs on the house he recently sold to A. F. Chute. Mr. Brown is soon to leave the village much to the regret of his many friends. Though he has resided here but a few years, he has proven himself a worthy citizen, a good neighbor and a genial friend. Mr. Brown is a first-class workman, carpentering his chief business, though he is a proficient at many other trades. Indeed there seems to be almost nothing which he cannot do. Mr. Brown is not to be outdone. It will doubtless be a long time ere another so skillful will take his place in our village. Mr. Brown has a host of friends that will regret his departure to another location.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." NORWAY AND VICINITY

Proposed Orchard Improvement.

The state is desirous of improving the orchards in the apple belt and has sent Geo. A. Yeaton, director of extensive work in this vicinity to give practical demonstrations in orcharding.

It is the intention to take several orchards and care for them under his direction for a term of years. The state pays Mr. Yeaton for his work. He will see to pruning, cultivating and fertilizing also spraying, to kill moths, pests and insects, in fact he will have charge of the betterments.

Three orchards have been selected viz., J. Martin, Wymora's; W. Scott Merrill and Chas. E. Gammon's.

One or two more will be added to the list.

No doubt these orchards will show an improvement and it will be well to have the new ideas and ways as advanced by Mr. Yeaton and recommended by the state.

Norway people will remember the four Knight brothers, relatives of O. M. Cummings who visited him, last summer. One of the four recently had a miraculous escape from death. The Republican-Register of Galesburg, Ill., says that almost on the eve of his retirement from the postal service, Daniel C. Knight, 77 years of age, a veteran mail carrier on rural route, No. 5, was struck by a local Santa Fe freight train at a crossing and received very painful injuries. Mr. Knight's escape from death is little short of miraculous as his horse was instantly killed and his wagon smashed in pieces. Mr. Knight was picked up by the crew of the train and brought to this city where he was taken to a physician's office and his injuries given attention. He suffered a severe cut in the forehead and bruises in profusion about his body but no bones were broken.

Clarence W. Coffin on the Waterford road is busy this winter cutting gray birch wood and building boats. He is building an 18x5 foot beam motor boat and in it he is to put a 3 h. p. Northwestern gasoline motor. Last winter he built a similar boat which he sold to Win Kimball and it has been used on the lake here. Clarence tries out his boats on Hobbs pond, where is the greatest bass fishing in the world.

Stephens-Plummer.

Maine's famous singer, Mlle. Sealar, Minnie Anne Plummer, of South Paris, became the bride of Mlle. Sealar, author and scientist, Dr. Charles Ashbury Stephens, of Norway. This interesting marriage was consummated at the Congregational Church in South Paris, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 26th. The church decorations were most artistic, while carpeting was laid from the sidewalk to the altar of the church. The day was beautiful and in every appointment the wedding was charming. At the appointed time, 2 o'clock, Rev. A. T. McWhorter, pastor of the church, accompanied by the bridegroom and the best man, Dr. Bial F. Bradbury of Norway, kinsman of the bridegroom, took their places at the altar. In the hushed stillness (no music being desired by Mlle. Sealar), the bridal party passed up the aisle to the altar.

The bride accompanied by her father, John Fellman Plummer, was preceded by the matron of honor, Mrs. George F. Eastman. Under a wedding bell suspended from a beautiful arch of evergreen, the marriage ceremony was impressively performed, the double ring service being used. The bride was given away by her father.

The bride was charmingly gowned in ivory satin, entraine, veiled with hand embroidered tulle, caught with pearls. Her bridal veil was caught with pale pink roses and her bridal bouquet was also of roses. The matron of honor was handsomely gowned in blue crepe de chine veiled with beautiful lace. The bride's mother, Mrs. John Fellman Plummer was becomingly gowned in ivory broad cloth with Irish Point. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present and no lunch or reception followed.

The bride's traveling gown was of blue camel's hair with hat to match. Dr. and Mrs. Stephens left on the afternoon train for parts unknown. Only the contracting parties and relatives were cognizant of the date of the wedding.

Many South Paris people still recall that at the age of nine years, Minnie Plummer instructed a music class of five pupils. The precocious child was expected to make her mark in the musical world so none of her towns people were surprised when the news of her triumph came from time to time from across the ocean.

Much has been written about Mlle. Sealar who gave up her operatic career in the hey day of her life. Mlle. Sealar has sung but little in America having been taken ill soon after her return from Europe. She has sung in the musical centers of Europe, in Paris, in London and in the cities of Holland taking the leading roles in many of the famous operas notably in Lohengrin and in Aida. In France she was surrounded by the highest of friends and home influences. She lived in a quaint old Abbey of Poissy with Madam Franceschi and in this beautiful Chateau, Sealar spent many hours of pleasure and study.

Dr. Charles A. Stephens, the well known Maine author, has long been connected with the Youth's Companion, and has journeyed to nearly all parts of the world in the interest of that paper, collecting incidents and stories for many popular books for young people, including the "Stamping Out Series," "Stories of the Maine Woods," "The Old Farm Books," "When Life Was Young," "A Great Year of Our Lives" and others. These books dealing almost exclusively with boy life fill a long shelf in nearly every public library in the country.

In the scientific world Dr. Stephens is better known for the researches conducted at his private laboratory, in biology and physiology. These embrace "The Life of the Physiological Cells," "The Association of Cells in the Human Organism," "The Old Age of Cells," "The Neuro-Electronic Circulation," "Salvation by Science," etc. all of which have attracted considerable attention not only in this country but in Europe.

His summer home and laboratory are in his native town at Norway Lake, picturesquely located on the shore of Lake Umbagog.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashbury Stephens will be at home after Tuesday July 1st, 1913, at the Laboratory, Norway Lake.

We believe in a special tax on abutters in building sidewalks, say one half the expense to be paid by the corporation and the balance by the abutter. To get this would necessitate amending the corporation By-Laws. This can be done if thought desirable. Col. A. J. Stearns could see to that this winter from the Senate Chamber.

We desire to recommend what seems to us to be a matter of great importance, a campaign against shingle roofs. Eye-witnesses of the disastrous conflagration at Bangor on April 30th, 1911, also in the big fire in Norway, May 9th 1894 agree that the destruction of many residences was attributable to shingle roofs.

The population of our cities is increasing much more rapidly than that of the rural sections of our State, and as a consequence large frame tenements, apartments and residences are being erected in the suburbs. Generally the roofs are covered with wood shingles. There is need of taking hold of this matter. Shingle roofs are a hazard in themselves.

We are of the opinion that their use in future should be prohibited. It is of strictly isolated risks—be prohibited. Opposition may be expected from interested parties, but there should be no delay in pressing this matter to a satisfactory conclusion.

Col. F. A. Eastman says:—"When I left last summer to go to Berlin it was said I'd never come back alive. Shortie Cook shaved me and I knew that was what he thought and there were others. The doctors disagreed as to my ailments and this gave me a fighting chance for recovery and I took that chance and here I am—over 60 years old and physically never better in my life. This sickness interfered with harvesting the crop in Burdock Alley, this year and the crop went to seed.

I am not fully in love with the gray squirrels for the reason that the birds do not like to nest in the trees that are often visited by them. A few years ago not less than six families of robins and three blue birds had nests on a certain lot. This year there was but one robin's nest and that was in a Japanese lilac which the squirrels never have been seen to climb. There is also a scarcity of other birds over former years and as others tell the same story the Rumber is led to believe that the disappearance of the birds is due to the squirrels. If we can have but one let us have the birds instead of the squirrels, for the reason that while the birds make pretty pets they also eat a multitude of worms and bugs, which otherwise would damage everything the farmer or gardener attempts to raise.

Did you ever notice the vile language and swearing on our street cars. I saw an old lady made to walk at least 200 feet in the last deep show after hailing the car and she was not helped up the steps either.

A good mother requests us to ask that the Cerfex Laws be enforced the coming year. She wants the town to appropriate sufficient money to enable its enforcement. If this done an officer must be appointed and he must be paid. Do the people want it?

In the winter we presume it isn't needed as it's too cold for the children to be on the street.

One name for the child. That's the way it was in yore when times when big families were popular. Late years parents have been given with given names as a rule but this does not prevail in some sections if the recent published reports of the roll of honor is correct.

In the Middle Primary there were ten on the roll and not one had a middle name and there are eleven in the Upper Primary whose parents failed to christen them with the usual two names. In Grade IV, its the same also in Grade VII and VIII.

Can this be correct? We doubt it! It's a careless oversight on the part of the teacher and registers, and reports made out that way should not be accepted. If we were in control such reports would be returned for correction. It's not right. Why permit it? It shows laxness on the part of the school officers. Attention has previously been called to this. Insist upon having the children enrolled under their legal and correct names.

He was educated at the Oxford Normal Institute at South Paris, and Bowdoin College, class of '77. Taught in public schools and served as superintendent of the same for several years, and since that time his life has been devoted to general farming with dairying as a specialty.

He has served on the State board of Agriculture, also as president of the Oxford County Agricultural Society. In the Legislature of Maine, as representative in 1893 and as senator in 1897, he served on the Committee of Agriculture and Education. Professor Melville Ballard, another former resident of West Fryeburg, whose death in Washington, D. C., of apoplexy, after a short illness, occurred Dec. 15th, was very widely known and highly esteemed in this section. The loss of his hearing and subsequently of speech was due to a fall down a cellar stairway when a child. His education was acquired at the Institute for the deaf and dumb at the Capital, now Gallaudet College, where for many years past he held a professorship. Most of his summer vacations were spent at his parental home, now the home of his brother, Dean A. Ballard, and his devotion to his aged mother, Mrs. Susan Frye Ballard, during her long confinement to her room and bed through the sultry days of his vacation time was touchingly beautiful. Mr. Ballard was a Republican in politics and was accustomed to cast his vote in Fryeburg for many years of his residence in Washington. Besides his two surviving brothers, John Ballard, M. D., of Wisconsin and Dean A. Ballard, who lives in this neighborhood, Professor Ballard leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Fowler, May, Walter and Ralph Ballard. His age was 72 years. Burial was in Washington, D. C., Dec. 23rd.

BRYANT POND.

A Brutal Murder.
W. A. Maxfield, Jr., Gypsum, Col., was the victim of an atrocious murder at Pando, Colorado, Saturday evening, about eight o'clock, while waiting for a train to take him to Gypsum to attend the funeral of his father.

Mr. Maxfield and two other men were in the depot waiting for the train, when a masked man walked in and ordered them to throw up their hands, which they did. He then ordered the agent to give over his money and watch. The agent did not move fast enough to suit the robber, who shot twice, one shot grazing the agent's ear.

After making the men give up their money, the robber ordered them to walk up the track ahead of him, apparently with the object of making his escape more easy. The agent told the robber that he had to go back and flag No. 1, in order to avoid a wreck. The robber told him to go back but to keep his "damned fingers off the key."

Mr. Maxfield, being hard of hearing, turned back alone, when the robber bit Mr. Maxfield on the head with his revolver, knocking him down. The robber then started on with the other two men, but after going a few steps, turned and walked back and shot Mr. Maxfield in the neck. At the coroner's inquest it was found that he was dead before being shot, the blow on the head having broken the skull and killed him.

Mr. Maxfield was born at Bryant Pond, on March 20, 1879, the son of W. A. Maxfield, Sr., and Sarah F. (Tucker) Maxfield.

He received his earlier education at the public schools at Rochester, N. H., and subsequently at Rumford, taking afterwards a two years course at the University of Maine, preparatory for the college at East Maine Conference Seminary, Bucksport. It was at the latter place that he met Alice Snow, became a student at the Seminary, who became his wife at Portland, November 22, 1908.

The deceased, with his family, moved to Colorado in 1901, locating at Red Cliff, where they lived until 1908. They then moved to his father's ranch on Sweetwater, moving to Gypsum about two years ago.

Two children, Donald, aged thirteen, and Wilda, aged 8, survive; also a wife, one brother, F. H. Maxfield, of Gypsum, and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Moore, of Delaware, Ohio.

The man, who afterwards confessed to doing the murder, was found hiding in a refrigerator on a train. He had the agent's watch and the exact amount of money taken from the men. He said he did it because he was hungry and broke.
